

Regression

Mr. van Bemmelen

Marc Garneau C.I. Physics Department

Transcribed by Eric Ye

February 7, 2013

When we collect experimental data we often seek to establish valid mathematical relations between two or more variables.

Such relations (functions) are collectively known as models.

The value is to allow us the ability to predict values.